INTERIOR

The late Alberto Pinto created a contemporary beach house style, eschewing the stiff formality of a glitzy hotel-inspired interior expected to be found on a yacht of AXIOMA's class.

Dedicated to creating a bright, summertime feel, Pinto has utilised light-colored woods and natural fabrics such as straw and leather throughout. Bold splashes of color then enliven this neutral backdrop, but do not overwhelm it, for the upmost tranquility.

Enhancing this sense of space and light is the stunning two-level main salon atrium, which joins an upper-level seating area and bar below. These spaces, which are connected yet individual in scope, present a multitude of uses from entertaining guests to unwinding with a book.

Sophisticated lighting and lightly shaded furnishings open up the area even further to create an incessantly light and airy feeling. Huge sofas line each wall, and a chic cocktail bar means evenings socialising inside will be just as appealing as AXIOMA's sun drenched exteriors. A formal dining area is found forward of this space for elegant meals and special occasions.

A deluxe lower deck movie theatre has room for eight, and the bridge deck is home to a beauty & fitness area replete with steam and massage rooms, a fully equipped air-conditioned gym, and an exterior Jacuzzi pool.

A handy elevator connects all interior decks making it easy for guests to make the most of AXIOMA's ample amenities.

ACCOMMODATION

AXIOMA accommodates twelve guests across six beautifully appointed cabins.

The upper deck master suite's neutral wall panels are enhanced by flashes of blue, and wide windows and a large circular skylight flood the room in natural light. The master suite has a private terrace with access direct from the bedroom, avoiding the need for AXIOMA's principal guests to have to go aft to enjoy the sea breeze. The master suite also features a private office, generous walk-in wardrobe, and an elegant ensuite with a relaxing Jacuzzi bathtub.

The remaining five guest cabins are all situated on the main deck and comprise of a full-beam VIP suite that could act as a second master, two double cabins, and two convertible cabins that can be arranged in double or twin bed configurations as required.

Each cabin onboard AXIOMA was purposefully situated on the main deck and above to ensure that they all benefit from large windows, superb views, and lots of natural light. All too have king-sized beds, stunning marble-clad ensuites, and their own unique colour scheme.

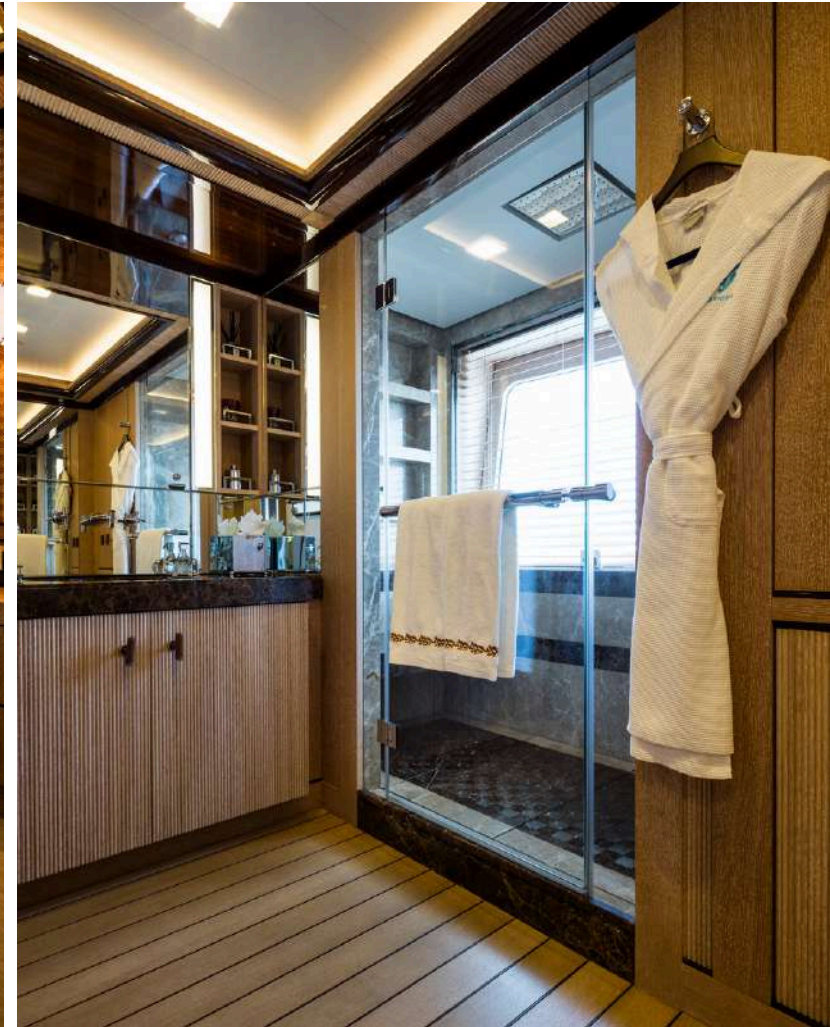

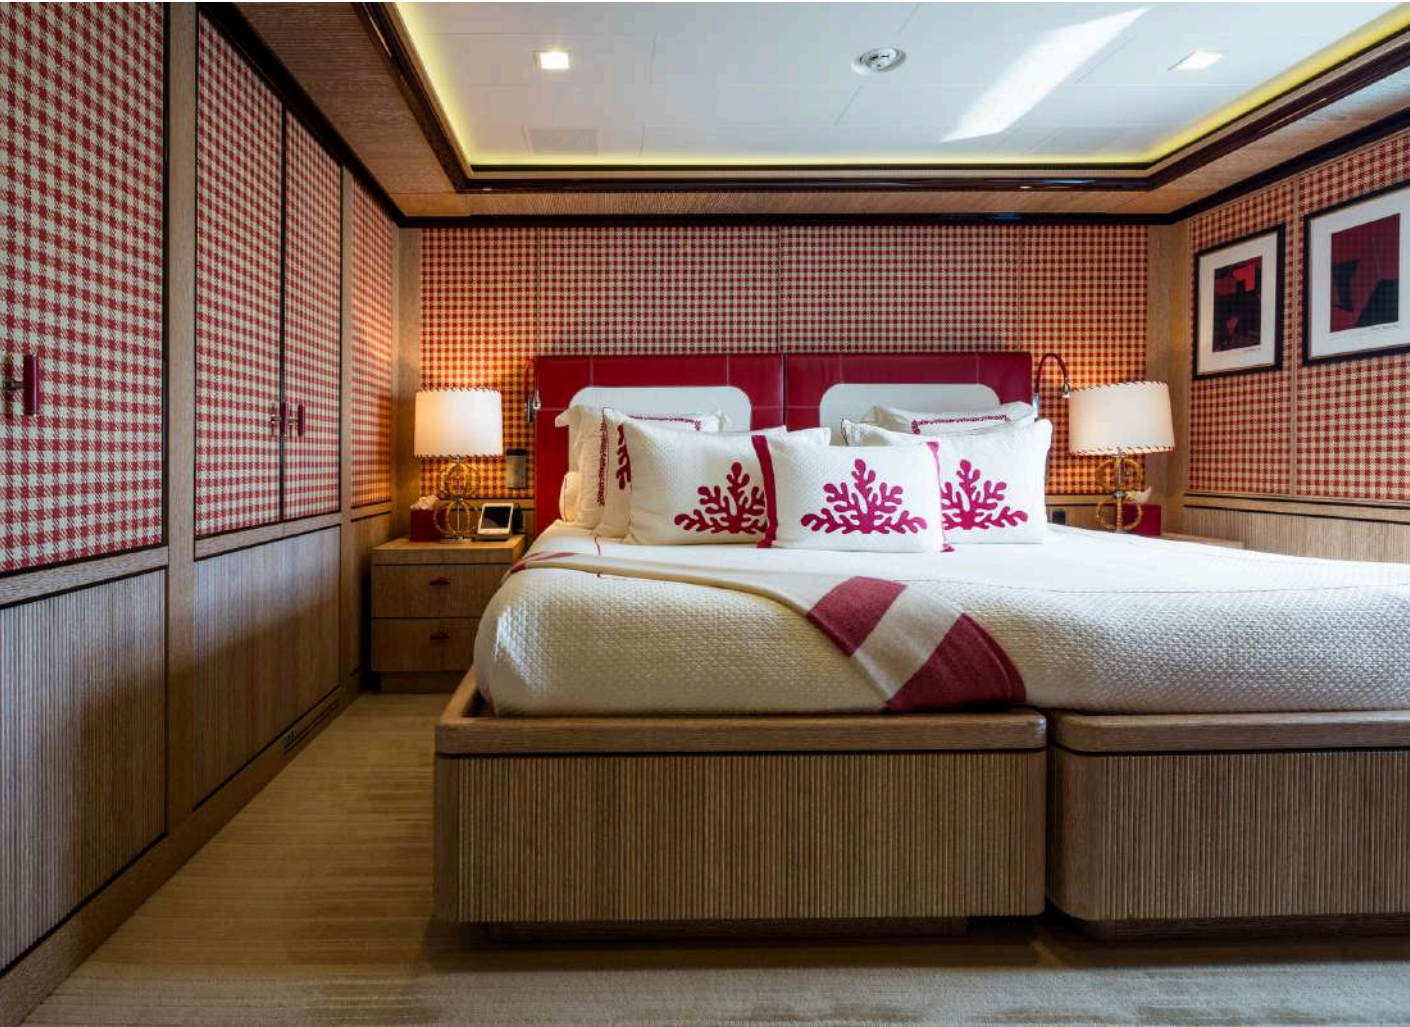

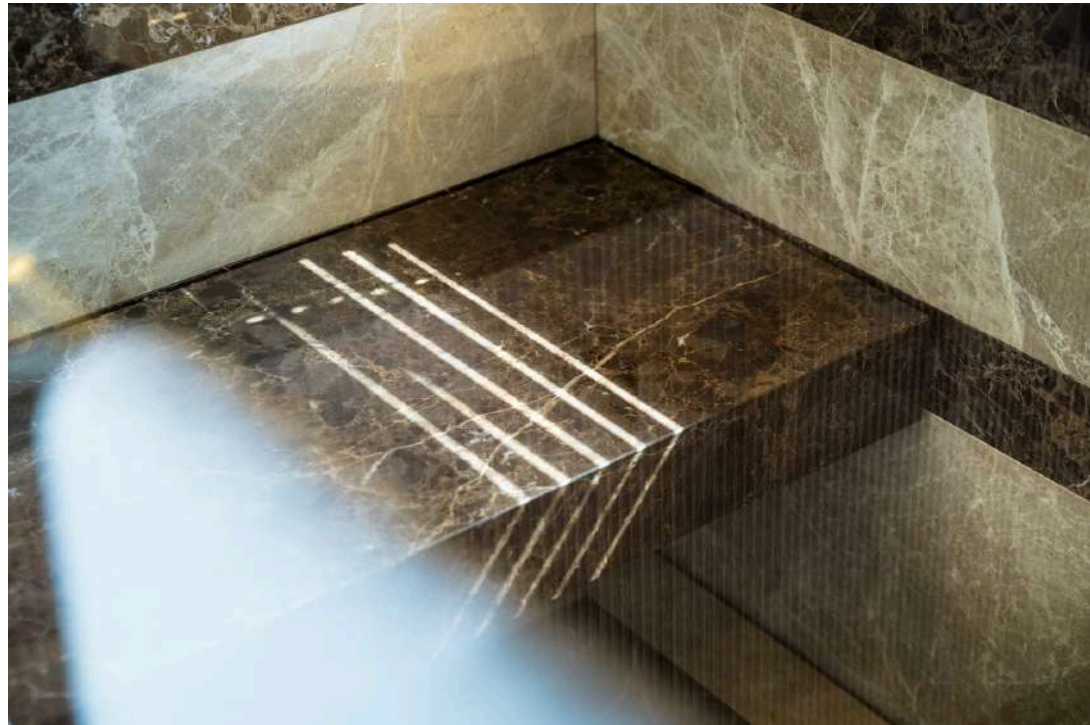

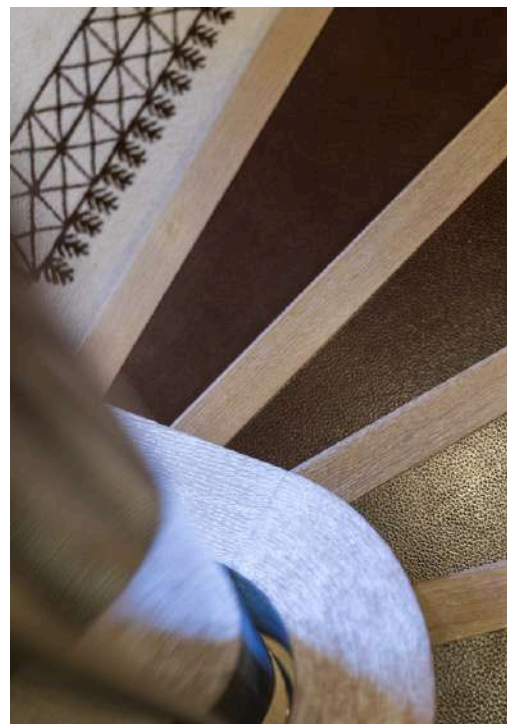

EXTERIOR

All four of AXIOMA's exterior decks flow harmoniously, providing guests with the best of interactive outdoor living.

The main deck aft offers a place for guests to relax and swim, with the center of attention undoubtedly being a glorious infinity pool. This huge pool, surrounded by elegant teak decking and sunbathing spots aplenty, exemplifies the character and feel of AXIOMA, which is strongly based around sumptuous living, socialising, and complete enjoyment. A nearby seating area has overhead shade to provide guests some respite from the sun should they desire it.

The upper deck offers impressive alfresco dining for up to 14 guests at a huge round table, more than large enough to easily seat the entire charter party. This space has glass windbreakers to ensure that dining is completely comfortable, as well as seating wrapping around the aft to relax on pre and post meal times.

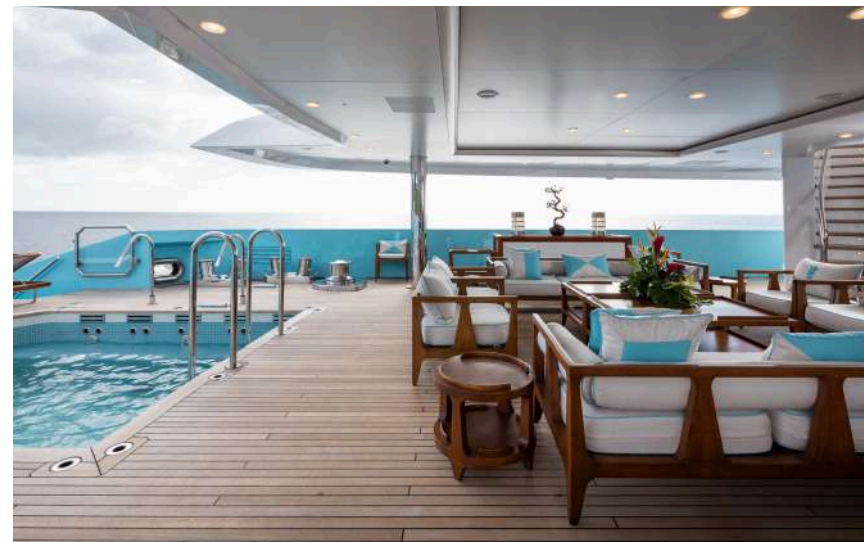

On the bridge deck aft above we find the exterior to the beauty & fitness area featuring a large Jacuzzi surrounded by sun pads and a bar.

Finally on the sundeck guests will be able to enjoy panoramic views whilst sipping a cocktail or just relaxing on a sunbed. The sundeck also has a bar area, a must for the perfect outdoor party.

AXIOMA offers a generous selection of complimentary toys for guests to enjoy. Launching from the swim platform are the latest and greatest from Seabobs, Jetsurfs, and Waverunners, to sailing dinghies, wakeboards, and even a giant 6-man stand-up paddleboard!
